TO PRESERVE AND PROTECT LANDS, SCENIC VISTAS, HERITAGE, AND CONSERVATION RESOURCES OF EDISTO ISLAND.

Two Conservation Easements on Historic Thomas Seabrook Plantation

Late last year, EIOLT purchased conservation easements on two side-by-side farms using Charleston County Greenbelt Bank funds. Nothing encapsulates Edisto's past or defines Edisto's future better than the conservation of two historic farms: the Keefe Farm and the Polk Farm.

These two tracts, 140 acres total, front Highway 174 on the north and Milton Creek on the south. They comprise a major portion of the historic Thomas Seabrook Plantation. The Keefes (Willis, Jimmy, Robert, Harrell, Mary, and Susan) and the Polks (Sarah and Larry) are 10th-generation descendents of the family that has owned and continuously farmed this land for over 300 years.

The earliest known owner of this land was Thomas Bannister Seabrook, whose circa 1740 plantation house was burned to the ground in 1940. It was one of about 60 Edisto plantations that cultivated Sea Island Cotton. Today, this land – which is home to King's Farm Market, vegetable and flower fields, and Barnyard Bay recreation area – is a model for sustainability and the "eat local" trend.

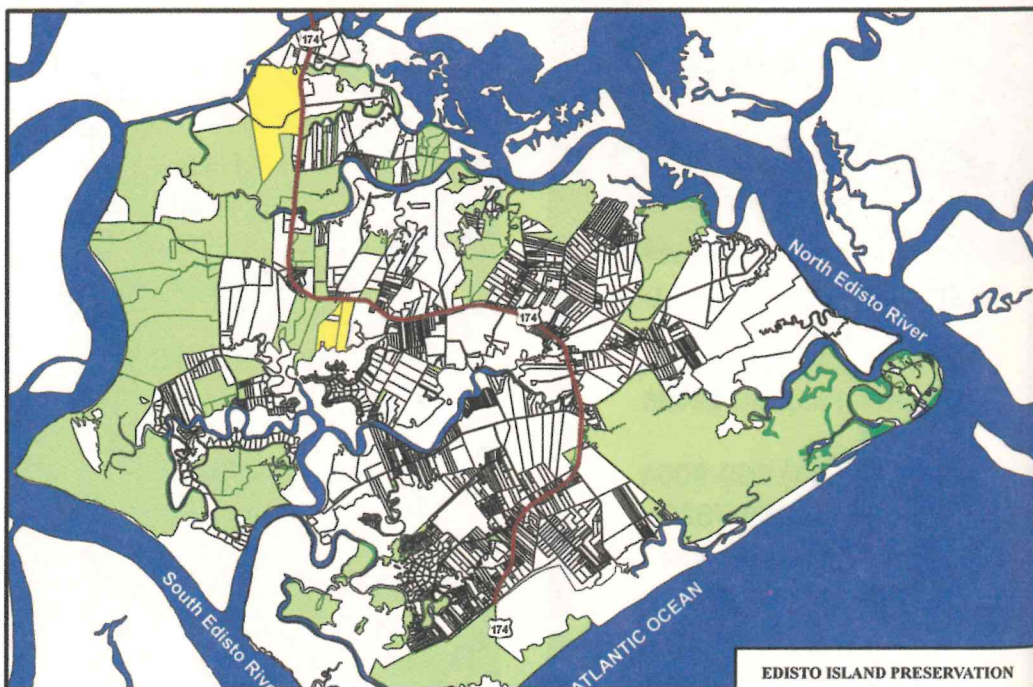

King's Farm Market [above], a local and visitor favorite, is on conserved Keefe Farm.

The two tracts also fill in critical pieces of Edisto's "conservation jigsaw puzzle." This wooded waterfront and farmland acreage will be preserved forever, linking with other preserved tracts that support tremendous biodiversity. Think your property could be a piece of the puzzle, too? Call EIOLT at (843) 869-9004 for an information package. ■

Update on Paradise Shrimp Farms

Now that the former Paradise Shrimp Farms property is under conservation easement and the transformation of its landscape is in progress, we can say unequivocally, "Yes, Virginia, there is a Fairy Godmother looking out for Edisto Island." Conservation Land Co., Inc., the owner of this preserved property, is in the process of re-working the 505 acres into several large scenic tracts suitable for recreational, hunting, equestrian or agricultural uses. While the work is ongoing, one 183-acre tract is now ready and available for sale. It has been named "Baynard Farms." The other portion of the property is known as "Little Edisto Farms." With the help of our Board, ACE Basin Task Force partners, members, volunteers and friends like you, we have:

Become an ACE Basin Task Force partner

Preserved our biggest tract ever: Paradise Shrimp Farm (505 acres)

Applied for designation of the new Edisto Island National Scenic Byway

Applied for national accreditation by the Land Trust Alliance

Added three conservation easements and 645 acres to our conserved lands: Paradise Shrimp Farm, Polk Farm and Keefe Farm

Completed the Scenic 174 Corridor Management Plan, an Edisto preservation blueprint

Launched our "Over the Top" campaign to preserve more than 50 percent of Edisto

This Is It... 2009 Is YOUR Year To Make The Move

The tax benefits for landowners who place a conservation easement on their land in 2009 are substantial. But, those benefits won't last long. The basics:

- When a landowner donates a conservation easement to a land trust, he gets to write off, as a tax deduction, the appraised value of the easement.
- If the landowner sells the conservation easement to a land trust, he gets to write off the appraised value of the conservation easement less the purchase price.
- In either case (donation or percent of his adjusted gross income on each year's tax return, for up to 16 years, or until the tax deduction balance runs out.

However, this IRS law expires on Dec. 31, 2009. After 2009 the tax deduction for a conservation easement donation will change and will likely revert back to the pre-2006 law. The pre-2006 law allowed the deduction to be written off at 30 percent of AGI each year with a carry-forward of only five years.

LETTER FROM THE PRESIDENT

Last year was another banner year for the Edisto Island Open Land Trust. We protected more acreage than in any other year in our history, including the preservation of the 500+ acre Paradise Shrimp Farms along the Intracoastal Waterway on the South Edisto side of the island. Most of the northwest quadrant of Edisto Island where the Intracoastal Waterway meets the South Edisto River is already preserved. You and other dedicated conservationists are responsible for this past conservation success.

As we look forward to more land conservation success in 2009, we are aware of the fragile condition of the economy. We are working hard and creatively to try to develop new sources of revenue for our land protection. Please keep EIOLT in your charitable giving plans, because we need your support more than ever. There will be attempts to reform the tax laws that have enhanced conservation in South Carolina and the U.S. We should all make our voices heard on these issues. Talk to your Congressional Representatives and Senators and anyone in government who will listen. We need your support as well as your active involvement in EIOLT's work as a volunteer. We appreciate every one of you. Thank you,

Color my world with green...

What could be more fun than coloring, particularly when your crayon is green and you are coloring-in the newly preserved lands on the wall map in EIOLT's office? Everyone who drops by is fascinated to see how the green preserved areas keep expanding.

It sometimes feels like a race against the clock to protect as much as possible of Edisto's natural lands, while conditions are so auspicious and the financial incentives so favorable. Thanks to you, we are getting ever closer to 50 percent of Edisto preserved. When we take Edisto "over the top" – more than half of the island preserved – there will be no question that Edisto will have the most protected acreage of any inhabited island on the South Carolina coast.

Many of you have asked, "How can we do more to help?" 1) Put a conservation easement on your land. 2) Give your time as a volunteer and your financial support as a member. 3) Recruit others to be EIOLT members. Be an active part of the extraordinary crusade to GO OVER THE TOP ON EDISTO! Thank you,

Marian

"Welcome!" New Staff

Our new Director of Development is Jan Turner, a Wisconsin native living on Yonges Island. Jan brings to EIOLT more than 25 years' experience in executive positions at four universities and two environmental education institutes, including a stint with Emory University's successful $400 million campaign. She has won numerous awards, including the CASE Grand Gold National. Jan completed a master's degree and two years of doctoral study in intercultural communication at Emory. A published author, Jan teaches diversity and cross-cultural skills, and has traveled solo to India, Ladakh, Malawi, Turkey, the Canadian Sub-Arctic and elsewhere.

Jan Turner

Our new Office Assistant is Randy Kelley, a resident of Edisto Island. Retired after 30 years with Duke Energy Corp., she has worked closely with the EIOLT team seeking Land Trust Alliance national accreditation. Randy helps with the documentation of conserved lands and records-keeping. ■

EdistoPride Grant

EdistoPride/Keep Edisto Beautiful has received a $6,600 grant from Palmetto Pride to support its anti-litter activities and EIOLT's Back to Nature Celebration. Administered by EIOLT, EdistoPride (the local arm of Keep America Beautiful) also received KAB's President's Circle Recognition Award. ■

OLT Welcomes New Board Members

Two new members have joined the Edisto Island Open Land Trust Board of Directors: Mark T. Crawford and Kelly A. Gauthreaux, Jr.

A local resident for 25 years, Mark Crawford manages investments and is a commercial pilot. Mark has served on numerous business and bank boards, as well as on the Charleston County Council. He lives in Charleston on Edisto, and has been an active OLT volunteer, assisting with base-monitoring, beautification and the Oyster Roast.

Kelly Gauthreaux, Professor Emeritus of Ornithology at Clemson University, is a widely-published expert on ornithology. Well-known to EIOLT members for his bird walks, Sid recently retired and moved with his wife Carroll Belser to Edisto Island. Sid has received numerous national recognitions, including an appointment to the National Academies of Science. He also has been a Centennial Professor at Clemson and has served as Chair of the S.C. Heritage Trust Advisory Board. ■

Edisto Realty is EIOLT Premier Corporate Partner for Third Year

Strong partners = success!

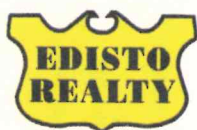

Matthew K. Kizer

For the third consecutive year, Matthew K. Kizer, owner of Edisto Sales & Rentals Realty, has joined EIOLT as Premier Corporate Partner ($10,000+ giving level). "Like the Land Trust, we are an advocate for preserving the rural, family-oriented character of Edisto" says Matthew. Matthew has demonstrated this commitment by helping secure a number of conservation easements on Edisto. He also grew up here, working as an Edisto shrimp boat captain. Get an entertaining glimpse into his family's history and Edisto "way back when" by visiting the "About Us/History" page at www.edistorealty.com.

You can reach Matthew, who knows the island "from the plantation live oaks to the pluff mud," at Edisto Sales & Rentals Realty, 1405 Palmetto Blvd., Edisto Beach, SC 29438. Phone (843) 869-2527 or toll free at (866) 856-6538, matthew@edistorealty.com, or www.edistorealty.com. ■

Nearly 300 people enjoyed talking and shucking at the EIOLT Oyster Roast & Annual Meeting in November. Hosts were Anne and Lex Crawford. The event's sponsor for the fourth consecutive year was Enterprise Bank of S.C., and it was underwritten by Edisto Sales & Rentals Realty, the EIOLT Premier Corporate Partner.

EDISTO! Tomato Open Golf Tournament is June 26

The second Edisto Tomato Open Golf Tournament will be held on Friday, June 26 at the beautiful plantation course at Edisto. There will be a $500 per team. There will be a $25,000 hole-in-one contest, closest-to-the-pin contests, a longest-putt contest, raffle, Mulligan prizes and other prizes, as well as breakfast, all-day refreshments, and an awards ceremony with food. Lead sponsor is EIOLT Premier Corporate Partner Edisto Sales & Rentals Realty – Matthew K. Kizer. For more information contact

May's Back to Nature Celebration Theme: "Extinction is Forever"

Preserving Edisto's natural treasures will be the focus on Saturday and Sunday, May 16-17, during EIOLT's 4th Annual Back to Nature Celebration. Catherine Douglass is this year's Co-Chair with EIOLT Board member Sid Gauthreaux. Again leading bird walks for the event, Sid also will be this year's guest artist, creating the rendering that will grace the Back to Nature Celebration's posters, programs, T-shirts and other items.

Saturday, May 16, will feature outings on Edisto conserved lands, as well as adventures by boat and kayak. Although this year's line-up is still being finalized, past sessions have included dolphin watching, creek fishing, birding, nature photography, a tour of the ACE Basin by boat and a shrimp boat experience. For program passes and details, contact EIOLT or visit www.edisto.org.

On Sunday, EIOLT will host its annual Legacy Live Oak Dedication and Conservation Celebration (see below). Sponsors for the weekend include EIOLT 2009 Premier Corporate Partner Edisto Sales & Rentals Realty – Matthew K. Kizer, and EdistoPride. ■

EIOLT's Back to Nature Celebration offers adventures on land and water.

Legacy Live Oaks To Be Dedicated May 17

As part of the Back to Nature Celebration on May 16-17, EIOLT will hold its annual Legacy Live Oak Dedication at 3 p.m. Sunday, May 17, at Indigo Farms (Highway 174). Open to EIOLT members and the public, the program will also celebrate the nearly 16,000 acres on Edisto that have been preserved to date.

During the past five years, 87

Legacy Live Oaks – including four so far in 2009 – have been planted. The new trees will be dedicated on May 17 to the honorees, whose names also appear on the Legacy Live Oak plaque at the memorial site. EIOLT Legacy Live Oaks offer an enduring way to honor special people or events such as anniversaries or new births. For information, contact EIOLT. ■

Land Trust Leads Scenic Byway Effort

After two years of work, the Scenic 174 Corridor Management Plan has been completed! The plan was the centerpiece of our nomination to designate SC 174 as Edisto Island National Scenic Byway. There are currently 99 National Scenic Byways in the country, with three in South Carolina. Learn more at www.byways.org.

We will find out whether our Byway nomination was successful this coming
